

Ms. Krystina's Weekly News

Week of September 28, 2020

Dear Families,

As the children continue to adapt to our classroom routines, this week, the children will be focusing on beginning to write their names independently. The children will also work on color identification and identifying shapes and their properties. The children will also work on identifying the needs of others and balancing it with their own needs while navigating the classroom environment with increasing independence.

Have a great week!
