

Ms. Krystina's Weekly News

Week of September 27, 2021

Dear Families,

As the children continue to adapt to our daily routine and class schedule, this week, we will identify and explore the properties of two-dimensional shapes. The children will also work on identifying the needs of others and balancing it with their own needs while navigating the classroom environment with increasing independence. Your children have been doing a great job thus far and are needing less and less direction on a daily basis!

Have a great week!
